COURSE & CLINIC OFFERINGS WINTER 2009

For the 2008-2009 season, Rancho Bosque is proud to offer its most wide-ranging curriculum yet! Three of our seminars, marked with an * are approved by the National Board of Certified Counselors (NBCC) Continuing Education. So now you can work with horses and also get credits for doing it! All courses are taught under the supervision of nationally renown, licensed professionals and in compliance with NBCC guidelines.

Course 002 Title: Equine-Assisted Therapy (EAT)*:

Dates: Friday January 9th and Saturday January 10th 2009

Prerequisite: None

The National Board of Certified Counselors approves this course for 16 hours of Continuing Education credits. This 2-day seminar focuses on how to use EAT for specific clinical diagnoses (e.g. eating disorders, attention deficit hyperactivity disorder, obsessive compulsive disorder, etc.). Each participant will be able to customize his or her own EAT program to meet behavioral therapy needs for individuals, families, and groups.

Individuals who finish the course will be able to immediately apply EAT in their selected field(s) of expertise.

Who Should Attend: Psychologists, counselors, social workers, therapists, teachers, anyone with an interest of becoming familiar with EAT principles.

Cost: $500 per participant. Some Discounts available, please call.

Equine-Assisted Therapy (EAT) for Addiction Recovery:

Dates: February 6 & 7

Prerequisite: None

Description: A two day seminar that uses EAT to the specific issues surrounding substance abuse and addiction recovery, including: abuse (individual and family context), familial history and inheriting abuse, intervention, enabling, family contexts of substance abuse, and psychological and emotional issues surrounding maintaining sobriety. Enrollment limited to sixteen adults

Course 004 Title: Cancer Warriors: Learning How to Harness Horse Power to Enhance Cancer Survival*:

Dates: Friday March 6th and Saturday March 7th 2009

Prerequisite: None

Description: The National Board of Certified Counselors approves this course for 16 hours of Continuing Education credits. This 2-day seminar is designed specifically with the cancer patient, cancer survivor, and cancer care providers in mind. Cancer not only assaults the body but also lays siege to one's heart and mind. Having a positive attitude, relying on one's spiritual and emotional resources, and assembling loved ones to provide support are all integral parts of becoming a successful cancer warrior. Feeling empowered to reject situations or individuals that impose negative feeling or energy upon the cancer patient and his or her support network is also vitally important.

Who Should Attend: Cancer patients and survivors, their families, friends, loved ones, health care professionals, therapists, counselors, and psychologists involved in the care and support of cancer patients.

Cost: $500 per participant. Early registrants before February 1st will receive a $75 discount off the full registration costs.
